New Order Launched Sunday
Afternoon With Large
Afternoon

CHARTER LEFT OPEN

A new fraternal society—Order of Owls—was launched in Madisonville last Sunday afternoon, when a class initiation of 235 was taken in at the opera house. More than 850 applications were on file, but a large number of candidates were unable to get here on that date, so it was decided to allow the charter to remain open until Wednesday, October 1st, when another large class will be taken in. The men at the head of the new order expect the membership to go over 400 by that time.

The following officers were elected at the conclusion of the work Sunday:

Fred Hoffman, past president; T. H. Howard, president; John R. Bug, vice president; A. Utley, invocator; Robert Crow, secretary; R. T. Osburn, treasurer; H. H. Graddy, warden; Jack Skinner, sentinel; E. E. Anderson, picket; trustees, J. J. Crowder, Fred Hoffman, A. Utley, F. X. Howard, John Redding.

Meets. Logan and Funk, organizers for this society, have been here for the past three weeks, and will remain until the big class initiation on Oct. 1 and in the meantime will assist the local officers in familiarizing themselves with the work of the new order and help them to get started out.

The class initiation Sunday took place in the opera house, and President Charles Armstrong, of the Evansville Owls lodge Dave Martin, chairman trustees, and Otto Smith, representative of the Supreme Lodge, were here to assist in conferring the degrees.

At the next meeting plans will be made to give a big street parade preceding the work, followed by a banquet in the home of the lodge in the evening. John W. Talbert, Supreme President of the order, together with other supreme officers, will be here on that day.

Logan and Funk are all pleased with the success they are having in instituting the new order in this city. They have made many friends during their stay here.

BRYAN IN $6,600

FROM LECTURES—
DEFIES HIS FORT

Secretary of State Ends Tour But Will Resume Speaking Later

Washington, Sept. 20th—Secretary of State Bryan today made an accounting to the public of his intellectual activities on the tour during the present season. It shows Mr. Bryan has $6,600 to add to his bank account, and that the public has instructions on a diversified lot of subjects.

More important than the cold statistics contained in the accounting is the announcement that the public is not to be deprived of any portion of these educational banquets in the future.

Whatever may befall, while life holds out and public thirst for knowledge remains unwhetted, Mr. Bryan says he will continue to impart information from the platform.

It was only because the closed season for shelling begins tomorrow that the secretary was moved to strike a balance and show the books. His last lecture for the present year will be given tonight. Its financial return, specific or estimated, presumably are included in the figures on the balance sheet. From now until next spring the secretary must skimp along on his official salary.

"Pitchforks" in the Pulpit

Galzburg, Ill., Sept. 20.—Catholic sermons of criticisms and denunciation are good to get preachers into the newspapers, but are not good way to preach the gospel is the belief of Bishop William F. McDowell, who spoke to the Central Illinois Methodist Conference. His subject was "Speaking the Truth." "Some ministers wield the pitchfork persistently, but put little hay into the manger," said the bishop. "It is easier to acquire a vocabulary of denunciation than one of persuasion. Preach the truth so that the congregation of every church may catch it and be saved." Rev. Frank W. Gundersen of Chicago addressed the conference last night.

Has Many Friends Here

Singelton Kimmel, a former citizen of this city, has been indicted in Henderson county, and we bet a gingercake to a buck shot that there is either malice and spite behind it or that it is some mere technicality in the law. Sing is too good a man to get in to trouble and has many friends in this city who wish him all the good luck possible. He lived in this city for a number of years and there is no one who had more friends than he made. He has been made County Engineer for that county with a handsome salary and is no more than he deserves. We hope to see him come out in flying colors.

Supper at Old Masonic Hall

Misrepresentation Is Expensive

BY HOLLAND

DECEPTION or attempted deception is wrong. It is also foolish. Attempted deception, deception that does not deceive, is still more foolish.

Successful business men are not foolish. They do not attempt deception. Aside from the being wrong, they know that it is foolish, that it is expensive, that it will not pay.

That is the reason that advertising is truthful, that it is dependable, that you and other readers of this paper have confidence in it. That is the reason that advertising pays.

Even Ananias never paid money for newspaper space in which to circulate his assaults on truth. He was a deal of a liar, if his reputation is deserved, but he wrote no false advertisements. If that ancient purveyor of canards has a modern successor the present day exponent of perversion is not an advertiser.

Goods that are advertised persistently must have merit. Advertising that is continuous must be truthful. You can protect yourself by buying advertised goods of merchants who advertise. There is too much at stake for them to attempt to deceive.

Made Adjutant of The 3rd

Ben. Winfree, well known among the soldier boys of this city and Madisonville, has been appointed Adjutant of the 3rd Regt., with the rank of Captain. Mr. Winfree is every inch a soldier and will make the Regiment a fine officer. He succeeds Capt. A. G. Chapman, of Hopkinsville, who has been with the Regt. for a number of years and has done much to bring the regiment to the high plain it now occupies in the State.

Wife's Ashes as an Ornament

TO MAKE PHOTO- GRAPHS BY WIRE- LESS METHODS

Vallego, Cal., Inventor Evolves
Instrument for Taking Pictures of Everything
Within Several Miles

WILD WORK ONLY AT NIGHT

Vallego, Cal., Sept., 20.—A local inventor has evolved a wireless photographic instrument which works only at night and reflects on a mirror, it is said, a picture of everything within a radius of several miles. He has been invited by Secretary of the Navy Daniels to take the machine to Washington for inspection by experts of the Navy Department.

The instrument receives its impressions from a web of wires attached to a tall mast. For this reason it is adaptable to ships, making impossible, its inventor claims, night collisions, accidents due to fog and running afoul of icebergs. It would be valuable, too, it is claimed, for army use, as the movements of the enemy at night could be easily followed.

A test was made recently of the instrument here. The night was dark, but observers say they saw reflected on the machine's mirror a picture of the district for a distance of two miles; saw the shipping in the vicinity of the Mage Island navy yards, railway, train passing up and down the valley and persons on the streets of the city.

The inventor formerly was a wireless expert in the Government employ.

W. O. W. Met Wednesday Night

The Woodmen of the world held a meeting at the Temple theatre Wednesday evening in the interest of their membership campaign. David H. Kucheloe, of Madisonville, was the principal speaker of the evening, and he made a stirring appeal in behalf of the Woodmen, in which he set forth the merits of the brotherhood, and emphasized the importance of membership in the Woodmen and the many advantages to be gained by becoming a member. Excitement was a feature of the evening, and the meeting was a grand success. The speaker was warmly received by the audience.

On the 20th of September, 1913, a meeting of the Woodmen of the world was held at the Temple theatre, and the same was a grand success. The speaker was warmly received by the audience.

Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. It is for us to express love in terms of human helpfulness.—David Starr Jordan.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs"

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playing child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 60c. bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Made Trip Through Asylum

W. W. Smock, editor of the Madisonville Hustler, with Dr. Gardner, one of the Board of Control, made a trip through the Western Kentucky Asylum a few days ago. This was his first trip through an institute of this kind and he expressed himself well pleased with it. Kentucky is well up with the states in its institutions for the unfortunate and afflicted and every care is taken of them, and everything possible is done for the entertainment and betterment. They have at Hopkinsville a complete moving picture show and entertain the inmates every week with the best of films.

ENCOURAGING REPORT FROM TREASURER

Of The Earlinton School Board
in Regard to Tax Collections.

LARGEST ATTENDANCE IN HISTORY OF SCHOOL

The Earlinton School Board held a meeting Saturday night at which a very encouraging report was had from the treasurer as to the collection of the school tax so necessary to keep the school going in its usual good form and to build upon for better things in the future. Treasurer Wise expressed himself as being more than pleased at the quick response the people of Earlinton and the entire district have made to his circular letter sent to each taxpayer advising him when the tax was due and the amount. This action on the part of the treasurer was not required by law but it was his desire to give the people of the district the fullest information and to save any from the necessity of paying the penalty imposed by law upon those who should not make payment within the limit prescribed. When interviewed by the Bee, Mr. Wise said he was pleased and that he would like the people of the district to know that he very thoroughly appreciated their prompt and hearty action in paying this tax, this the first year a school tax has ever been levied in Earlinton. The truth is that there are a very few lists that have not already been paid, though the collection did not begin until in August. The penalty of an added per-cent went on under the new law, on September 15th and nearly all the tax was paid before that date. After December 15th the treasurer is authorized by law to levy upon and to sell property, and to garnish wages in order to enforce payment. The readiness with which the bulk of the tax has already been paid indicates that there will be few cases in which payment will have to be enforced.

Superintendent Dudley reported to the School Board that school had opened with the largest attendance in its history, beginning on the opening day with 40 more pupils than on the opening day last year. The enrollment is still increasing and the rooms are all comfortably filled, notwithstanding that the board had provided an additional room this year. The girls' playground in the basement is now equipped as a part of the primary department.

Prof. Dudley, with endorsement of the School Board, will introduce domestic science instruction this year for girls in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, with privilege to the high school girls to take the instruction if they desire. Plans are on to procure a modest but efficient outfit for use in this department. Something may also soon be doing in the way of a little more manual training with some real equipment added for use of the boys.

There are a number of pupils in the school from outside points, and prospects for several more now and after the Christmas holidays. Attendance is excellent and the school is getting down to first rate work.

More Caution Needed.
An exchange tells the story of a little boy whose mother decided that he was old enough to do without her sitting by him when he was put to bed until he fell asleep. So when one night she kissed the five-year-old and told him he was a big boy and brave enough to go to sleep without his mamma and in the dark, too, he pondered the situation a moment and then said: "Well, wait a minute. I've got to say my prayers again careful."—Suburban Life.

A Severe Sickness Leaves The Kidneys Weak

After recovering from a severe spell of sickness some time ago, I was all run down and suffering from poor blood. I would have pains in my back and hips and my kidneys bothered me all the time. I started taking Swamp-Root upon the advice of a friend, and found it was just what I needed. My blood became bright and after taking a few bottles, I was surprised at the effect it had on my kidneys. They were entirely cured and I have much to be thankful for that your great remedy did for me.

Many as One.
The value of one person's mind or one person's work is steadily diminishing; it is the associate mind, the many hearts beating as one, that now move the world; and this is so well understood by women that they are rapidly learning what can be accomplished in economic, social and intellectual life by the power of an educated public opinion.

"I am the mother of eighteen children and have the praise of doing more work than any young woman in my town," writes Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Mill, Va. I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want to, and feel better than I have any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." LIFE'S LITTLE JESTS

Helping the Horses.

A man riding on the front platform of a downtown horse car in a city where horse cars still run noticed standing beside him a tired looking Irishman who held a heavy bundle on his shoulder.

"Why don't you set that bundle down on the platform?" asked the gentleman.

"Sure," said the Celt, "these poor horses have all they can do to drag the car and the pay-pole. O'll carry the bundle."

Not in Vain.

Henry never knew stairs could be so frolicsome and alpine until that mid-night. He had reached the turning point of his perilous journey when his wife appeared, armed with the well-known candle and poker.

"You're drunk, Henry!" she cried, vindictively. "You're drunk!"

"Well, if I ain't," responded Henry demurely, "I've spent $3.65 for nothing at all."

And he wept.—Judge.

Thankful.

Giles met an acquaintance on the street the other day, although he artfully tried to avoid him.

"Hello, Giles, dear boy!" exclaimed the other. "So glad to see you. I'm going to London next week; can I do anything for you?"

"No, going's enough, thanks," replied Giles, moving on.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Playing.

"When a family seemed pinched in circumstances the first thing was asked was whether a woman's husband played the horse races."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "Now the first thing we ask is whether a man's wife plays bridge."

OBSCURE.

"Ah! Back from your vacation, I see. Did you find what you wanted—an obscure little village, far away from civilization?"

"My boy, it exceeded my wildest dreams. Why, that town didn't even issue souvenir postcards."

Getting Worse.

The man who goes to pieces—
Won't father many kids,
Because time just increases
The frequency of his fits.

Settle Down.

Master of the House—See here, Mary Ann, where's my dinner?

Slavey—There ain't agoin' to be no dinner, if you please, sir.

"What's that? No dinner?"

"No, sir. The missus came 'ome from jail this afternoon, an' ate up everything in the 'case!'"

Unkind Thought.

Bacon—What has become of the old-fashioned bicyclist who could get himself arrested for scorching?

Egbert—I expect he's scorching in some other world now.

One Exemption Sure.

Patience—A society has made Will an offer to buy all the songs he writes in a year.

Patrice—I know very well it can't be the Humana society.

Merely Unfortunate.

"There is some dark secret connected with his son's career in college."

"Nothing involving moral turpitude. He struck out the day of the big match, with the bases full."

Cruelty.

"I hate to put some of my photographic subjects on my plates."

"Why so?"

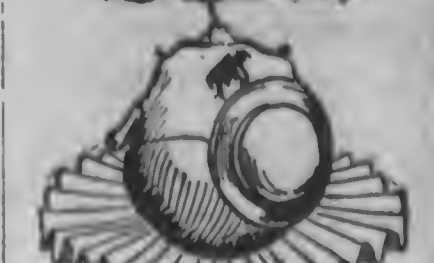

"Because they are such sensitive plates."

What He Was.

Miss Chatterbox—I hear you've been operating in the stock market. Were you a bull or a bear?

Mr. Smatterbox—Neither. I was the goat.

ON THE FUNNY SIDE

Still at It.

"Dobbliday is a great worrier."

"Yes?"

"He worried about his hair till that was gone."

"Yes."

"He worried about his teeth till they were gone."

"Yes."

"He worried about his money till that was gone."

"Yes."

"And having acquired the worrying habit, he worries now because there is nothing particular to worry about."

Not Real Through.

A story was recently told to exemplify the pride which every man should take in the work by which he makes a living.

Two street sweepers, seated on a curbstone, were discussing a comrade who had died the day before.

"Bill certainly was a good sweeper," said one.

"Y-e-e-s," conceded the other, thoughtfully. "But—don't you think he was a little weak around the lamp-post?"

Hard Luck.

"Broke, eh? What became of your 'Seeing London' scheme? Those touring cars work everywhere else."

"Couldn't get any business for three months."

"Are Londoners that slow in taking up a new thing?"

"You don't understand. We struck a long run of foggy days."

Basis for Calculation.

He—Before we go to Europe I must see vot dem tourist companies would charge.

She—Would you 'ink of goin' mit von dem companies?

He—No; hut votefor dey would charge ve ought to be able to do it for less.—Puck.

THOUGHTS OF RACING.

Yachtmen—Tied to call you three times for breakfast this morning.

His Friend—I always thought there was a time allowance on a yacht.

The Graduate.

Took Mother Literally.

Marian pointed to the glass or cup when she wished a drink, uttering inarticulate sounds intended to convey her desire. She was old enough to talk some, but she had never been taught to ask for a drink. Mother said to her: "When you want a drink, Marian, you say, 'Mamma, or papa, or Hesel, or Mildred, drink.'" The next time Marian wished a drink she pointed to the cup and said: "Mamma, papa, Hesel, Mildred, drink-in-ky-in-ky-in-ky!"

'd Burgler's Foot Betrayed Her.

A young girl burglar who robbed a Parla bacco shop was escaping by the roof when she put her foot through the kitchen skylight. The cook saw her foot appear through the glass and sent for the police, who reached the girl by means of a ladder and took her to the police station.—London Mail.

Loose Screws.

Very often a screw hole gets so worn that the screw will not stay in. In such a case cut narrow strips of corn and fill the hole completely. Then force the screw in. This will make it as tight as if driven into an entirely new hole.

Rooted in the Human Heart.

There is a small in our native earth better than all the perfumes in the east. There is something in a mother, though never so angry, that the children will more naturally trust her than the studied civilities of strangers, let them be never so hospitable.—Lord Halifax.

To Clean a Gas Range.

The loose parts of a gas range frequently become so greasy and dirty that they can scarcely be cleaned. Place these parts on the coals in the furnace when the fire is low and it will quickly burn them quite clean without injury.

"Symptoms."

Occasionally an afflicted lady tells why she left her husband. For the married man, of some introspection and conscience, the feeling produced by the recital is something like the feeling one used to have in reading the patent medicine list of "symptoms." He used to feel that he had earned deserved the treatment.

Couldn't Take Prescription.

Physician—"You should seek a higher altitude." Patient—"It always gets me dizzy to travel by airship."

COVER CROPS PROTECT THE LAND DURING THE LONG WINTER MONTHS

Crime Against Kentucky Soils To Leave Them Exposed—Rye Much in Favor—Soil Has Hard Struggle To Produce Even Reasonably Good Crops

Young Growing Swine on Rye Pasture in Winter.

(T. R. Bryant, Superintendent Extension Division, Kentucky Experiment Station.)

Even the most casual observer who has any regard for the agricultural welfare of Kentucky, has noticed the crime against Kentucky soils, of leaving them exposed through the winter months. The majority of the land in this state is of a rolling, hilly or even mountainous topography, the soil in the majority of cases being clay loam, which conditions conspire to make the soils wash readily. The cropping systems used by our farmers are none too good, in fact in many cases are very bad, and the soil has a hard struggle to produce reasonably good crops even if properly cared for during the winter.

Corn occupies a greater acreage in Kentucky than any other crop and since many other crops are also cultivated, the loosened soil is left in the best possible condition for gully-ing. This method of cultivation having been kept up year after year has left its marks which may be seen in the majority of the counties of the state in the form of deep gullies or barren parched hillsides, reducing the productiveness of the soils to such an extent as to make its tillage impracticable.

The most effective way of preventing this great damage is by never leaving our land without a cover crop during the winter months.

It is a well known fact that in the late summer and early fall, under reasonably seasonable conditions, the bacterial life in the warm soil is as active as at any other time during the year. Under the action of these micro-organisms in the soil a large amount of plant food is converted from insoluble into readily soluble forms, in which condition it awaits only a rain, to be leached out and carried away. The rational thing for us to do under these circumstances is to have something growing which will utilize this readily available plant food incorporate it within its growing body and thus hold it to be used for next year's crop. Such a crop as rye, sown from the first of September to the middle of October, feeds greedily upon this plant food as it is made available, gets a good growth under reasonable conditions and is ready for its manifold duties through the winter.

HOG RAISING PROFITABLE TO FARMERS

(T. R. Bryant, Superintendent Extension Division, Kentucky Experiment Station.)

Suggestions on Swine Raising.

Perhaps the two most noticeable wants of Kentucky agriculture, is the lack of sufficient live stock on the average farm, and the exposure of naked land to winter rains. As regards the live stock situation perhaps no phase of it offers greater opportunities to the average farmer than hog raising. A few suggestions on this subject might not be amiss here. With the exception of milking dairy cows, hardly any investment of money in feed for live stock is more promptly returned than that invested in hog raising. Many other arguments in favor of an increase in the swine industry might be easily cited. However, in raising swine as in the case with all other stock we can afford to raise none but the best. By this is not meant any particular breed but that the animals should be of some pure breed. Kentucky farmers are not deviously contented with things other than the best, which condition should not prevail. A good grade is better than a poor animal of pure breeding, but generally speaking the pure bred animal excels the scrub or cross, and again it is a well recognized fact that the second cross is of little value and the herd of the pure breeder must then be sought and his own price paid for a fresh start.

Those of us who have had any experience on the markets know what it means to get the top price or on the other hand to have to take fifty cents on one dollar below the top price, because our hogs do not top the market. This discrepancy must be deducted from the net profits, which are none too large at best. Inheritance largely fixes the possibility of an animal, furnishes the detailed plans and specifications beforehand, while the feeding later builds the structure and maintains it. It costs no more, if as much, to put a pound of flesh on a pure bred hog as it does on a cross bred or scrub animal, and the difference in the selling price warrants an absolute change from non-descript to pure bred animals.

Intelligent feeding of swine can be made to accomplish surprising gains. Farmers generally agree that it is very difficult to make satisfactory gains in young swine during the winter, but in suggesting along this line, a word of commendation should be given to rye pasture for the late fall, during open winter weather, and in the early spring. Young rye is rich in protein which is so essential to growing the body of a young animal and without an adequate supply of which he soon assumes a starved appearance. Young rye is as good as clover for this purpose.

It is a well known fact that an animal well fed while young is a more satisfactory feeder later on, and that an animal starved while young can seldom if ever be made to put on the best gains afterwards.

Skimmed milk is one of the best known supplements for corn in feeding young swine and we will do ourselves no harm by making an effort to produce more milk for the dairy industry even on a very moderate scale is highly profitable.

Soy beans and corn is the proportion of one to six make an excellent ration for young pigs and the soy beans should by all means be grown on the home farm for we thereby serve the double purpose of improving the soil by growing the beans and we provide one of the best possible pig feeds. High grade digester tankage, one part, and corn nine parts, is a good ration for young stock. For finishing the mature hog probably corn alone is best for all practical purposes. By proper breeding and feeding we can obtain surprisingly rapid gains and early maturity, thereby lessening the cost of gains.

AN EDITOR MAY STARVE

Admiration Alone Will Not Support a Newspaper

A newspaper if it has any brains, conscience and muscle back of it must continually decide between doing its duty and injuring its pocket. In any position but that of an editor the public is able to separate the individual home from the collective citizen. But if an editor does not please them, its at his pockets they aim. Thus it is the newspaper learns who their friend are. The man who reads the news paper and admires it all the year around, yet gives his business to some other concern whose principles or the actions of its editor he defects, and the man who never is a friend to the newspaper until he wants a favor granted by the newspaper, is not a friend to the former newspaper. Admiration alone will not run a newspaper. There are too many men who expect an editor to slave in defence of their pet notions and coolly withhold the business support by which alone a country newspaper can live.

Talk about a having a public duty to perform, and an editor having to work for his principles is cheap when others stand back and extend a lukewarm neutrality. The result is the editor may starve while laboring for his principles and the cause of right and justice, which they admire, but not support.

No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

Adrift with Humor

Made the Sale.

"Let me see some of your black kid gloves," said a lady to a shop assistant.

"These are not the latest style, are they?" she asked when the gloves were produced.

"Yes, madam," replied the shopman, "we have had them in stock only two days."

"I didn't think they were because the fashion paper says black kids have tan stitches, but not the vice versa."

The shopman explained that vice versa was French for seven buttons, so she bought three pairs.

His "Herein" Was the Worry.

"I say, Sambo," asked a man of an improvident negro who had lost a job for the third of fourth time, "aren't you worried over the question of wherewithal to support you?"

"Lordy, Marse Henry," was the reply, "I ain't worryin' 'bout wherewithal; I'm worryin' 'bout de wherforetur de herein."

The Lure of It.

"She chose a life in the ranks of the chorus, I understand, rather than become milady's maid."

"Well, why shouldn't she? There's a great deal of difference, when you come to think of it, between being Fanchon St. Claire and Maggie Peters."

Expert Advice.

"Shall I marry Mr. Wombat, who is forty, or Mr. Wopp, who is twenty? They both earn the same salary."

"Marry the young man. He'll nag less about expenses."

"Why so?"

"He can't remember when prices were lower."

STARTING EARLY.

Miss Newwed—I'll never leave baby with my brother to mind again.

Mr. Newwed—Why not?

Miss Newwed—I left baby with him baby and when I came home, the baby was playing with a pack of cards and a box of paper clips.

Never Again.

She smoked just one—No more, you bet! She calls it now a "tickle."

Needless Expenses.

"Father," asked the girl who was going to marry a poor man, "do you think I ought to take a course of household economics? They offer a lovely one at Bony Moore for $200."

"No," replied pater grimly. "You will get one for nothing after you are married."

Numbered.

"What mover did you engage this year?" the wife asked.

"The same old man," replied hubby.

"You know, he has the combination of our numbered furniture."—Judge.

Knew His Capacity.

"Well, where have you been?"

"My dear, if I should try to tell you all the places I've been—"

"I judge by your condition that you have been to more than seven."

Preposterous.

She—George, the last dress I bought has lasted me nearly a year and a half.

He—Gee, but you women are lucky.

That last tire I bought hasn't lasted me a month and a half!

Point of View.

"Well, we certainly had an open winter," a gentleman remarked to his wool dealer recently.

"Yes," granted the other. "Open to objection."

Tastes Differ.

"Bring me a demi-tasse, waiter. Will you have the same, John?"

"None of them fancy drinks for me. Just bring me some good, strong coffee."

Mlle. Zoe's Tigress

By WILL W. WHALEN.

Mlle. Zoe had a new lover, but what of that? Mlle. Zoe had a lover in every town that the circus reached. Other men less susceptible than Ralph Patterson lost their hearts at sight of Mlle. Zoe.

Now the circus was at Montgomery. But Ralph Patterson, being no laggard in love, had followed Mlle. Zoe there. He sat now in her dressing apartment, his eyes on her mobile face.

"You ask me to marry you," she said, sweeping her golden pompadour from her white forehead. "Do you realize what that means? There is little virtue on the stage, there is less in the circus."

"You are young to talk that way," he argued.

"Yes, I am young."—There was a touch of bitterness in her rich voice. "But despite my years, a man had as well marry my pet tigress, Lady Belle, as me."

"You can leave the circus."

"I had intended to do so before I saw you. This is my last season as lion-tamer. I intend to go on the stage."

"Marry me, and let me prove my love."

"You must wait for your answer." She glanced at her watch and arose as a sign of dismissal. "I must perform."

"Is there in this world today a man whom I could love—a man worthy of a woman's love?"

Mlle. Zoe moaned these words pitifully into the ear of her pet tigress. Fierce Lady Belle quailed before the fierce fire in the eyes of her mistress.

The circus had remained three days at Montgomery; now it was to leave. Ralph Patterson was again in Mlle. Zoe's dressing apartment, pleading his love, and devouring her beauty with his liquid blue eyes.

"I must tell you a story, Ralph," she said. "Seven years ago, in a coal mine town, not far from here, there lived a little girl, pretty with a moonbeam prettiness. She trusted everyone, because she was good. She trusted one to her sorrow—a man. He wooed her with soft, innocent blue eyes, like yours; he kissed her with frank lips, like yours; he caressed her with strong hands, like yours. That man left the little girl to the mercies of the world, her name gone, her life blasted. The world pointed the finger of scorn at her and shut its doors in her face, while he held his head high and cared for no man, he. By chance, the little girl got some education; it doesn't matter how; she became brilliant and was sought after even by the one who had spoiled her life. The moonbeam turned into a sunbeam."

He attempted to rise, but a hand, as soft and white as a snowflake, touched his wrist, and kept him to his seat. "I was that little girl, Ralph Patterson; you were that man. Take education, bleached hair and seven maturing years from Mlle. Zoe, and you have Little Emma Stone, whom you made an outcast."

His face lost its look of innocence; guilt flushed it from brow to chin.

"Your voice was as winning then as now. I should love you, were your past unknown to me. You love me at last, but I do not want such love as yours. There has been an inviolable cord binding us together all these years. Even the wounded insect may lame by its sting the one who has hurt it. You took from me all that made life worth the living; and revenge is written on my heart with a pen of iron, with the point of a diamond."

She cast a glance upon him, like the glance of a lioness that sees her prey within reach. He kept his eyes to the ground. He heard a curtain pulled aside, and heard something spring near his feet. One lightning glance showed him an open cage, Mlle. Zoe, whip in hand, and a sleek tigress crouching to spring. He was petrified in his chair. Then the beast's claws had rent his flesh.

Mlle. Zoe had looked forward to her revenge, but now it was turned to ashes on her lips. All the woman in her was aroused to action; the tenderness of long ago came to life in her bosom; her hardness melted. She saw that Lady Belle had inflicted as yet only scratches and a slight wound. She lashed the beast from Patterson's shoulders, screamed to him to fly. He staggered to the opening in the canvas, and out into the air and sunlight, calling for help.

But Lady Belle had tasted blood; no fear could hold her in check now. Her fangs met in Mlle. Zoe's slender throat, her sharp cruel claws rent the beautiful shoulders.

Mlle. Zoe's circus tour was ended. (Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Method in His Madness.

"Do you know that you paid that woman five cents to ride on this car?" asked the friendly man on the back platform, after a woman had been let off at the corner.

"How do you figure that?" asked the conductor.

"Why, she handed you a 50-cent piece, and you gave her three dimes and a quarter in change," returned the friendly man.

"Oh, is that the woman I gave the three dimes and a quarter to?" said the conductor, smiling. "Well, she'll have a hard time passing the quarter. That's the way I get rid of all my bad money. Just so long as you give them a nickel or ten cents too much, they'll never stop to see whether it's good or bad."—New York Evening Post.

Small water, says, increases in a ratio to the square of the distance or weight to that which it is carried. That water did not come to earth by accident, but was created when and since and under the same conditions. It is a very precious commodity. It is the life of the body. It is the life of the soul. It is the life of the spirit. It is the life of the universe. It is the life of the world. It is the life of the nation. It is the life of the race. It is the life of the world. It is the life of the universe. It is the life of the world. It is the life of the universe.

Changing Nature Indirectly

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. York, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriskany, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For Sale by All Dealers.

Manx Domestic Economist.
An excellent Manchester lady frequently invited her friends to tea, but she does not furnish her table lavishly. When her guests have eaten all the bread and butter and oysters, and when the meal is over, she looks brightly at the empty plates. "Well, now," she says, in triumphant tones, "I have saved your appetites up again!"—Manchester Guardian.

Chinese Memorial Arches

The palatial or memorial arches of China, says Frederick McCormick, in the National Geographic Magazine, rival the pagodas in grace, beauty and numbers. Many of them are erected to commemorate the devotion of virtuous widows who refuse to remarry. The fabled phoenix, which never changes its mate, is prominent in the decoration of these arches.

Yellow complexion, pimples and disfiguring blemishes on the face or body can be gotten rid of by dissolving liver which is torpid. HERBINE is a powerful liver current. It purifies the system, stimulates the vital organs and puts the body in the vigorous condition. Price 50c. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co. Incorporated, Drug Dept.

Self-Knowledge

Suffer me to recommend to you one of the most useful lessons of life, the knowledge and study of yourself. There you run the greatest hazard of being deceived. Self-love and partiality cast a mist before the eyes, and there is no knowledge so hard to be acquired, nor of more benefit when once thoroughly understood.—Abigail Adams to Her Son.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. It stops the Cough and Headache and works off the Cold. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. W. W. GROVE'S signature on each box. 25c.

Same Good May Be Done

I told something to a friend once and he replied, "Gee do you want a fellow to be perfect?" I said, "Yes, but I never expect to see one, but these lots of rottenness which get be out of the efforts of all of us."—Archives.

Mothers who spend the night with sick baby appreciate the help they get from McGEE'S BABY ELIXIR, especially in hot weather. It soothes fever and irritation of the stomach, checks the bowels and helps both mother and child to obtain sleep and rest. Price 25c and 50c per bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co. Incorporated, Drug Department.

Practical Ventilation Hint

The house should be ventilated in winter as well as in summer if the family is to be kept in good health. Bedrooms, especially, should be provided with a free ventilation of fresh air. One way to get fresh air in a bedroom without having a draft is to tack strips of cheesecloth across the top and the bottom of the window so that when it is opened in both places the fresh air will enter the room and yet, should there be a strong wind, its force will be broken by the cloth.

When the bowels feel uncomfortable and you miss the exhilarating feeling that always follows a copious morning operation, a dose of HERBINE will set you right in a couple of hours. If taken at bedtime you get its beneficial effect at breakfast next day. Price 50c. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co. Incorporated, Drug Dept.

Higher Equity

Bismarck used to delight in telling the story of how, when foraging for food with two companions in an almost deserted village, he came upon a man from whom he procured five eggs. Unable to divide five among three, he began by swallowing two; then, calling his companions, shared the three remaining eggs with them—a truly Bismarckian idea of an equitable division.—Pall Mall Gazette.
